DRUG USE FORECASTING IN 24 CITIES IN THE UNITED STATES,
1987-1996 (ICPSR 9477)

SUMMARY: The Drug Use Forecasting (DUF) Program measures levels of and trends in drug use among persons arrested and booked in the United States. The data address the following topics: (1) types of drugs used by arrestees (based on self-reports and urinalysis), (2) self-reported dependency on drugs, (3) self-reported need for alcohol/drug treatment, (4) the relationship between drug use and certain types of offenses, and (5) the relationship between self-reported indicators of drug use and indicators of drug use based on urinalysis. Participation in the project is voluntary, and all information collected from the arrestees is anonymous and confidential. The data include the arrestee's age, race, gender, educational attainment, marital status, and the charge at the time of booking. The recently modified DUF interview instrument (used for part of the 1995 data and all of the 1996 data) also collects information about the arrestee's use of 15 drugs, including recent and past use (e.g., 3-day and 30-day drug use) of each of these drugs, age at first use, and whether the arrestee had ever been dependent on drugs. In the original DUF interview instrument (used for the 1987 to 1994 data and part of the 1995 data), the information collected is the same as above except that the use of 22 drugs is queried, and the age at which the arrestee first became dependent on the drug is included. Arrestees also were questioned in the original instrument about their history of intravenous drug use, if the consideration of AIDS influenced whether they shared needles, history of drug and alcohol treatment, their past and current drug treatment needs, and how many persons they had sex with during the past 12 months. Finally, arrestees are asked to provide a urine specimen, which is screened for the presence of ten drugs, including marijuana, opiates, cocaine, PCP, methadone, benzodiazepines (Valium), methaqualone, propoxyphene (Darvon), barbiturates, and amphetamines (positive test results for amphetamines are confirmed by gas chromatography). The Gun Addendum Data (Parts 27 and 35) contain variables on topics such as arrestees' encounters with guns, whether they agreed or disagreed with statements about guns, gun possession, how they obtained handgun(s), whether they were armed with a gun at their arrest or during crimes, and if they had ever used a gun against another person. The Heroin Addendum Data, 1995 (Part 29) contains information that was formerly covered in the main annual file in 1992-1994, but in 1995 was revised and prepared as a separate dataset.

UNIVERSE: Booked arrestees in 24 sites in the United States.

SAMPLING: The data were collected from booked arrestees as follows. 1987 data: 2,993 males at 11 sites, 516 females at 5 sites. 1988 data: 10,554 males at 20 sites, 3,261 females at 14 sites. 1989 data: 16,186 males and 5,804 females at 21 sites. 1990 data: 20,556 males at 23 sites, 7,769 females at 21 sites. 1991 data: 22,335 adult males at 24 sites, 8,330 adult females at 21 sites. 1992 data: 22,265 adult males at 24 sites, 8,322 adult females at 21 sites. 1993 data: 20,551 adult males at 23 sites, 8,139 adult females at 21 sites. 1994 data: 20,015 adult males at 23 sites, 7,839 adult females at 21 sites, 4,558 juvenile males at 12 sites, 734 juvenile females at 8 sites. Part 1 Survey, 1995, data: 11,374 adult males at 23 sites, 4,474 adult females at 21 sites, 2,483 juvenile males at 12 sites, 412 juvenile females at 7 sites. Part 2 Survey, 1995, data: 9,364 adult males at 22 sites, 3,592 adult females at 20 sites, 1,810 juvenile males at 10 sites, 242 juvenile females at 5 sites. 1996 data: 19,835 adult males at 23 sites, 7,532 adult females at 21 sites, 4,145 juvenile males at 12 sites, 645 juvenile females at 7 sites.

NOTE: (1) SPSS export files are available for all data files except Parts 3 and 6. (2) The data collection instruments for 1994, 1995, and 1996 are provided as Portable Document Format (PDF) files. The PDF file format was developed by Adobe Systems Incorporated and can be accessed using PDF reader software, such as the Adobe Acrobat Reader. Information on how to obtain a copy of the Acrobat Reader is provided in the README file on the diskette version of this study and through the ICPSR Website on the Internet. (3) The data collection instruments for 1987-1993 are available only in hardcopy form upon request from ICPSR. (4) In response to recommendations by the Government Accounting Office (GAO), significant modifications were made to the DUF survey instrument midway through 1995, resulting in two different survey instruments used that year. The new survey instrument (1995 Survey, Part 2) retains many of the variables from the original DUF questionnaire (1995 Survey, Part 1), as well as adding more detailed questions. (5) In efforts to make the DUF data more "user friendly," the coding scheme and formatting of the 1994 data and 1995 Survey, Part 1, data were changed slightly from previous years and, further, the coding scheme and formatting of the 1995 Survey, Part 2, data differ somewhat from the 1994 and 1995 Survey, Part 1, data.

CODEBOOK NOTES FOR 1996 GUN ADDENDUM DATA

First, in the 1996 gun addendum data all "yes" responses are coded as "1" and all "no" responses are coded as "0". Also, "77" refers only to instances in which questions were not applicable (i.e., the question was not asked) and is labeled, "NA/SKIP". In the gun addendum data questions may be not applicable or skipped because of conditional skip patterns in the gun addendum survey. For example, all arrestees responding to the gun addendum questions are asked whether they have ever been threatened with a gun, but only those who respond yes to this question are asked subsequent questions about whether they have been threatened with a gun in the past 30 days. Thus, the question about being threatened with a gun in the past 30 days is not applicable to arrestees who have never been threatened with a gun. The records for arrestees who have not been threatened with a gun are assigned a code of "77" that is labeled "NA/SKIP". Users should consult the DUF questionnaire for more information about conditional skip patterns. If data were not obtained for a core question, all missing values for the subsequent questions were also recoded to "77". The exceptions to this rule are four variables, EVERMANY, HNDMANY, HND COST, and ATIMCOST for which the code "7777" is used for "NA/SKIP".

In the 1996 datafile "99" is used as the code for data not obtained by interviewers when it should have been obtained. The exception to this rule ID, Because "99" is a valid response for this variable it is not used as the code for "data not obtained". Instead, the code for "data not obtained" for ID is "9999" and this code is declared as missing. One case in the 1996 gun addendum data has a code of "9999" for ID. The ID for this case was not obtained but the record does contain data for gun addendum questions. The record cannot be linked to the 1996 DUF survey data.

Finally, in the 1996 gun addendum data the values "77" and "99" are specified as missing values because these cases should not be included in computation of statistics using the DUF data.
